

Statement on the Tragic Murder of Holocaust Museum Guard Stephen Tyrone Johns

Statement from former U.S. Senator Mark Dayton

“I am deeply saddened by the tragic murder of Holocaust Museum guard Stephen Tyrone Johns. My condolences go to his family and friends. This despicable hate crime reminds us that we must continue to be vigilant against anti-Semitism and all other forms of prejudice. Mr. Johns died in the line of duty, protecting a museum that serves as a constant reminder of the need to swiftly and unequivocally condemn such senseless acts of inhumanity. I will be clear: our community will not stand for hatred, violence, or bigotry. My thoughts and prayers are with Stephen Tyrone Johns and his loved ones as they grieve during this difficult time.”
